

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Disclosed are a light emitting module, an optical detecting module, an optical pickup apparatus formed by coupling the ultra-minimized light emitting module and the optical detecting module, and manufacturing methods thereof. To this end, ultra-minimization, a micro machining technique fit to a mass production, and a semiconductor device assembly manufacturing process are applied, thereby reducing a component cost and increasing uniformity of components.